Art Unit: 1714

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 15-20 and 23-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Pat. No. 5118290 Muller et al..

Muller discloses a polyurethane/urea containing the instantly claimed terminal groups.

Particularly prior to or in the lack of use of a catalyst, the composition of the patentee is expected to have the instantly claimed skin formation properties inherently based on the disclosure of column 4, lines 13-27, particularly line 17 and necessarily inherently since the polyurethane terminated with alkoxy silane groups is the same as that of the instant claims. The composition of the patentee is not required to have the compounds of the instant claim 16-17 nor the chlorides of the instant claims 19-20. Any excess aminosilane of the patentee reads on the instant claims 25-26. Use of the composition of the patentee for the purposes disclosed in the patent above falls within the scope of the instant claim 28. The urea groups made by the amino silanes of the patentee are indistinguishable from urea groups made from the isocyanate functional silane of the instant claim 23 and an amine. The final product of the patentee therefore falls within the scope of that of the instant claim 23 even though the patentee does not disclose isocyanate functional silane.

4. Claims 21-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art considered does not teach the use of the instantly claimed catalysts in the instantly claimed compositions nor that they would give the instantly claimed skinning rates.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Patrick D. Niland whose telephone number is 571-272-1121. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Thursday from 10 to 5.
